ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

ENTERED INTO BETWEEN MR GEORGE, of the City of Victoria, V.I., and Mr. WEIR, of Vancouver, B.C., whereby the said parties have agreed that the distance of 150 yards, for the sum of $200 (Three Hundred Dollars) a side; $250 (Five Hundred and Fifty Dollars) a side; to be put up as a lot in the event of either party failing to come forward with the amount of stakes on the day appointed for the above match to take place.

The above match to be played on the 25th December, 1867. If the weather is favorable, or the first fine day afterwards.

The ground to be selected by both parties the day before the match, to be in the vicinity of Victoria. The match to be played on a level, and to measure from the centre; each shot to be measured by what is generally known as string measure.

The above match to be decided by both parties firing 15 (fifteen) shots each of hand; either party to have the privilege of using any sighted rifle, but no artificial sights to be used.

In witness whereof, we hereby set our hands and seals.

G. C. GEORGE,
JOHN WEIR.

Victoria, Nov. 1st, 1867. no2

The above match is open to any person or persons complying with the agreement.

CURES AND COMFORT FOR THE BED-RIDDEN.

Holloway's Ointment.

This wonderful Ointment acts like magic in relieving all kinds of skin diseases, such as eruptions of the skin; when rubbed on the surface it penetrates and purifies each tissue on its passage, and exerts the most wholesome influence over the diseased structure. It is used by clearing all animal fluids with which it comes in contact, and thereby promotes a sound and permanent cure.

Gout and Rheumatism.

To sufferers from the rack of pain, inflammation and Gout this ointment will prove invaluable. After fomentation with warm water the soothing action of this Ointment is most remarkable; it seems at once to lessen inflammation, ease pain, reduce the swelling, restore natural circulation, and expels the disease. For the above complaints Holloway's Ointment and Pills are infallible.

Diphtheria, Bronchitis, Sore Throats, Coughs and Colds.

His class of diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment, three times a day, upon the throat, chest and back of the patient. It will soon penetrate and give immediate relief. In all stages of Influenza, Colds and Bronchitis, this treatment may be followed with efficacy and safety—indeed, it has never been known to fail.

All Varieties of Skin Diseases, Scrofula and Scurvy.

This Ointment is a certain cure for Ringworm, Scrofula or King's Evil, and the most inveterate skin diseases to which the human race is subject. They can be cured by the use of a more powerful remedy than Holloway's Ointment, assisted by his celebrated Pills, which act powerfully on the constitution and so purify the blood that these disorders are completely eradicated from the system, and a lasting cure obtained.

Dropsical Swellings.

Swelling of the lower and upper extremities, which frequently creeps upon us by slight, unperceived, or trifling causes, of which little or no notice is taken until the trouble begins to swell. The cause of the evil must be removed, and the system purified. For this purpose, by taking Holloway's famous Pills, and rubbing the Ointment very effectively over the parts, the swelling and pain will be removed, and the system purified. Most dropsical cases are cured by the combined influence of the Ointment and Pills.

Piles, Fistulas, and Internal Inflammation.

These complaints are most distressing to both body and mind, and cause much suffering from the knowledge of the most intimate parts. Persons suffer from various kinds of internal complaints, which they might as well as cure by the use of Holloway's Ointment, and effect a permanent cure without the annoyance of explaining their ailment to anyone.

Disorders of the Kidneys, Stone and Gravel.

Are immediately relieved and ultimately cured if this Ointment is well rubbed twice a day, and the small of the back, over the kidneys of the kidneys to which it will gradually penetrate and in almost every case give immediate relief; but perseverance will be necessary to effect a cure.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Boils, Eruptions, Scalds, Ulcers, Sore Throats, Scurvy, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Ringworm, Tumors, Uterine Disorders, Dropsical Swellings, Rheumatism, Gout, Sore Feet, Chapped Hands, Corns, (Soft)

Sold at the establishment of PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY, 44 Strand, (near Temple Bar), London; and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the civilized world, at the following prices: 1s 1/2, 2s 6d, 4s 6d, 11s 2d, and 3s 1/2 each Pot.

Constituents of COAL TAR.

Extract from the Lancet, Dec. 22, 1866.

Liq. Carbonis Detergens—We are very sceptical of the value of any remedy, and it was in a spirit of scepticism that we tried the liq. carbonis detergens. It is represented to be a concentration of the essential oils of the tar, to wit, benzene, naphthalene, and phenic acid. The addition of water, with agitation, makes a solution of the tar, which is a most valuable agent in the treatment of skin diseases, especially of the chronic eczematous class; and one case of psoriasis which had resisted all other kinds of treatment, speedily got well under the application of the liq. carbonis detergens. We esteem it a very valuable addition to our list of skin remedies, and worthy of a very extensive trial by the profession. In the above classes of disease, and in various others, such as scalds, ulcers, etc., the preparation is put into the form of soap.

I am instructed to publish the following Regulation for general information.

ALLAN FRANCIS,
U. S. Consul.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Washington, D.C., August 13, 1867.

To the Consular Officers of the United States

Your attention is called to the 25th section of the Act entitled "An Act to regulate the collection of duties on imports and tonnage," approved March 2, 1859, which is as follows:

"Sec. 25. And he it further enacted, That, on and after the 1st day of July next, the several provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to regulate the collection of duties on imports and tonnage," approved March 2, 1859, shall be in full force and effect, and shall be strictly complied with by the several Consular Officers of the United States, and that the Secretary of State send copies of this section to all Consular Officers of the United States in foreign countries."

Your attention is also called to the fact that, by Section 3 of chap. 42 of the laws of the second session of the 35th Congress, the section above quoted was amended by inserting the words "in place of the word 'only'."

It will be seen that the law has already gone into effect, which places vessels on foot in whole or in part by consigning them to the Consular Officers of the United States, and that the Secretary of State send copies of this section to all Consular Officers of the United States in foreign countries."

Your attention is also called to the fact that, by Section 3 of chap. 42 of the laws of the second session of the 35th Congress, the section above quoted was amended by inserting the words "in place of the word 'only'."

NANAIMO AGENCY.

Mr. H. W. Alexander is no longer authorized to act as Agent of this paper at Nanaimo. Our business at that place will in future be conducted by Mr. S. D. LEVY, who is alone empowered to receipt for subscriptions, &c.

The British Columbian, in its latest issue, has a labored and despairing article, in which it attempts to mislead its few readers by informing them that the memorial presented to her Majesty's Secretary for the Colonies on the subject of the Seat of Government was signed by only nine gentlemen. We do not wish our cotemporary to deceive itself or its subscribers, and therefore we may as well inform him and them that the memorial was signed by fifty-five other gentlemen, either the representatives of establishments in Vancouver Island or otherwise interested in the Colony by reason of their being property or bondholders, in addition to which several officers of her Majesty's Navy, who had been in the Colony, supported the prayer of the memorial. With its usual and habitual habit of misrepresentation, it charges the authors of the memorial with representing the Colony of British Columbia as "a very wilderness, in fact, encumbered with dense forests of enormous trees," when in truth those words only relate to the site of Westminster. We need not follow our cotemporary in his fanciful description of Fraser river. Suffice it to say that it is well known to be a comparatively useless stream, its value not being at all commensurate with the size of its mouth. Nature, indeed, seems to have designed it purposely to prevent either ingress to or egress from the interior of the Colony. The Columbian goes on to give Captain Richards' evidence as to the non-shifting character of the sands at its mouth and the straight but narrow channel running through those sands to the river. Since Captain Richards made his surveys it is well known that the channel has shifted annually and new shoals formed, the last being called the "Malacca Shoal," on account of H.M.S. Malacca grounding there. Even now the buoys no longer point out the path to ships, and the channel resembles the letter S, which is by no means straight. The Columbian will soon be made a little wiser on this score; and to add to its comfort we may state that Captain Richards, whom it quotes so freely, and several officers of H.M. Navy, supported the prayer of the memorial, that the "Seat of Government" should be at Victoria, now that union of the Colonies had taken place. Having refuted the Columbian by its own witness, we may observe that it is not a little singular that the Naval officers, as well as those now here as those who sojourned at Esquimalt harbor heretofore, and other nautical men, should all unite in condemning New Westminster. We do not, however, consider the question of the Seat of Government to be a local one. The whole country is interested in the matter, and upon its determination the welfare of the whole Colony depends. The country must be considered first—let owners afterwards. We now turn to the Examiner. It admits that the local petitions appended to the memorial, and upon which the Resolutions of the Council, and indeed the Memorial itself, are based, may be of considerable weight, but attempts to show that the people of the interior were deceived into the act of signing those petitions. We believe the people of the interior to be possessed of quite as much intelligence and a greater desire for the welfare of the whole Colony than our cotemporary, and will see through its design, viz.: that its remarks are intended for the scissors of the Governor, to be sent to the Home Office—perhaps inspired for that very purpose. Let anyone look at the petitions, and then ask themselves whether any "trick" was practised upon the colonists in the interior who signed the memorial. However, we give credit to the cunning of the Examiner as being more refined than the observation of the member for Westminster, that the signatures were obtained by means of whisky! The voice of the people is apparently not relished at all, and it is evidently desired to imbue his Grace the Duke of Buckingham with the false impression that the signatures have no value. We are next treated by the Examiner to the observation that the members who voted were personally interested. It is very well known, that after the vote had been given in the Council, efforts were made to find out how much the members were interested in Vancouver Island or New Westminster. The result was unexpected, and such as could not be made use of by the Government. But what is this question of interest? Interest means many other things besides pecuniary interest in a particular spot. It means interest for the welfare of the country; its prosperity; the convenience of its people; the benefit of the greater number. The people are interested; they have spoken in favor of Victoria for the Seat of Government. The members of the Legislature have spoken in favor of Victoria. The interest of the people is the interest of the country—and the country says, let the Seat of Government be at Victoria. We cannot conceive that the Home authorities will act contrary to this well-understood and expressed wish of the people, unless some dishonest influence be brought to bear. There is but one who can exercise such influence, and if it be practised, he must be held responsible to the country; but we cannot do otherwise than believe that His Excellency will conform to the wishes of those over whom he is called to govern.

The Artist and His Too Attentive "Model."

At the Lambeth Police Court, Mary Gallin (52), described as a needlewoman, was charged with annoying M. Victor Boutellier, an artist, residing at 12 Marlborough road, Peckham. Prosecutor, a Frenchman, said he had been subjected to all sorts of annoyances from prisoner, and the previous day she came to his residence, collected a crowd of some 150 persons, and insisted upon sweeping the doorsteps, and for that purpose brought a broom with her. [Laughter.] The Magistrate—But what's the cause of all this? Witness—Well, some six or seven years ago she sat as a model to a picture I was painting, and after that she would follow me. A few days ago she walked by my side more than a mile, and insisted upon holding her parasol over my head and face, so as I should not be scorched by the sun or inconvenienced by the dust. [Loud laughter.] I told her to go but she would not. Defendant (looking tenderly towards the witness)—You know I felt uncomfortable at seeing you without a veil or housekeeper, and offered to aid you. You know it was my tender feelings towards you. (Roars of laughter, in which the worthy magistrate joined.) The Magistrate—But you must eradicate those tender feelings, especially when you see the gentleman does not admire your attentions. The only reason given for your conduct is that at one time you sat as a model. Defendant (with a burst of indignation)—I did, but I wish your worship to understand it was not as a nude figure, for I was attired in a black silk. Magistrate—Will you promise not to annoy complainant again. Defendant—Yes, if he does not want me. Complainant—I want you! I should think not. Defendant having entered into the required promise, was discharged, and left the court with a smile of mingled love, pity, and revenge towards complainant, and amidst considerable laughter from a crowded court.

JENNY LIND A FAILURE.—The London correspondent of the New York Tribune says of Madame Jenny Lind-Goldschmidt: Jenny Lind left many friends and admirers in America who will be sorry to hear that her latest appearance in public has been a failure. That the freshness of her voice should be gone was inevitable, but it seems to be agreed that its splendor and strength are also gone. "In plain truth," writes one correspondent, "it is now little better than a beautiful wreck, which the frequent ardor of the still aspiring artist only makes the more apparent." The reappearance of Madame Goldschmidt was at the Hereford Musical Festival, and the occasion of her consent was that she might assist in bringing out "Ruth," the new oratorio of her husband. One does not like to repeat harsh things of Jenny Lind's husband, but the oratorio gets no good word said for it anywhere, and not even the Nightingale, in the enthusiasm of her first triumph, could have made it a success.

In a speech delivered by Sir John Bowring, at Dundee, lately, at the meeting of the British Association, Sir John urged that greater attention should be paid at our public schools to what are vulgarly called the three R's—reading, writing, and arithmetic. He stated when he was Governor of Hongkong a highly connected young gentleman was sent out to him for public employment, bringing recommendations from very influential quarters. A report having shortly afterwards reached him of the gentleman's ignorance, he sent for him and examined him as to his proficiency in spelling. When required to spell the word candle, the highly connected young gentleman spelt it "kandell."

It is an error to suppose that Burns was not generally appreciated in his life. He was eminently so. Before he had composed any of those exquisite songs, which he contributed to Johnson's "Musical Museum," and Thomson's "Collection," he was hailed as a prodigy. He visited Edinburgh direct from the plow, and was received with honors and hospitalities by the leading persons of that lettered capital. His subsequent provincial tour was a continued ovation. When he was passing the second edition of his poems through Mr. Small's press at Edinburgh, the stool on which he usually sat while correcting his proof-sheets he found one day occupied. He looked annoyed, and the foreman, perceiving the cause, asked him to step a moment into the composing-room. Sir John Dalrymple, who was seated on the stool, was now asked to resign it for a chair, which was handed to him. "What!" said Sir John, "do you suppose I'll resign my seat to you impudent, staring fellow?" "That is Robert Burns," said the foreman. "Robert Burns!" responded Sir John, at once dismounting from the stool; "that quite alters the case. Give him all the seats in the place."

At a recent meeting of the Highland Society, Professor Anderson was reported to have stated that a complete exhaustion had taken place of the guano in most of the northern Chincha Islands, and that the supply from the southern island is of an inferior quality. In consequence of this, a correspondent interested in the debt of Peru, which is secured by a lien on guano, expressed a hope that the agents would at once take note of the point, since if such statements were not met, the holders of Peruvian bonds would naturally feel anxious. Mr. Haslewood, the broker to the last two loans, accordingly furnishes the following reply: "I preface my observations by stating to you that the northernmost of the Chincha Islands having been exhausted of guano has been patent for nearly two years past. As to the demand for guano, I state to you authoritatively that during the two years it has considerably exceeded the average of previous years, and that this fact is attributed in no small measure to the superior quality now furnished by the other islands now worked for export and therefore more esteemed by agriculturists. As to the extent of supply of guano for future, permit me to assure you that even when the Chincha Islands shall have been exhausted, as in course of time they must infallibly be, there exist other deposits of such extent as to secure sufficient for some generations to come."

When the Perth and Inverness Railway was first opened, some of the natives, accustomed to the well-known system of 'haggling' practised by the Highlanders, would often make their appearance at the little stations at the north, when some such dialogue as the following would ensue: Native—'What is the price to —?' Ticket clerk—'Two and eightpence.' 'What?' 'Two and eightpence.' 'Two and eightpence? Hooh, never, I'll give you two shillings?' 'There's no reduction. The fare is two and eight.' 'Make it two and twopence and it's a bargain.' 'I tell you the fare is two and eightpence.' 'It's only thirty miles.' 'It doesn't matter what it is. That's the fare.' 'I'll give you two and threepence.' 'It won't do.' 'Two and fourpence then.' 'No, nor two and fourpence.' At two and sixpence the man, perhaps, would make a dead stand, and finding the clerk inexorable, would actually go away and wait till the next train, to return then with his offer of two and sixpence, in the vain hope of finding the clerk more accommodating.

My Pew.—Some years ago, a lady from a Southern city went to pass a short time at a watering-place. The Sunday after her arrival she attended divine service at the small church of the place, and took her seat in the first convenient pew. Before long the mistress of the pew entered and sat down, with many sour looks at the intruder. These looks producing no effect, the owner leaned forward and, 'Madam, this is my pew.' 'I congratulate you,' said the stranger, 'it is an excellent pew.' The proprietor drew back, quite astonished; but, after a few minutes, returned to the charge; 'I said, Madam, that this is my pew.' 'Indeed? It is a truly comfortable pew. The light is very pleasant here.' After this all went well till the hymn was given out, when the stranger took up a hymn-book, and was looking for the first line, when the pew-owner interrupted her: 'Madam, that is my hymn-book you have there.' 'It does you credit,' said the other, 'it is very handsomely bound, and the print is exceedingly clear. You must take great pleasure in it.' This last remark was complete, and nothing more was said till the service ended, when the intruder thanked her unwilling hostess for the use of her excellent pew, protesting that she had never been more comfortable in church.

The Emperor Napoleon's new gun, whose mode of working is kept profoundly secret, is a tremendous weapon, if accurately described. Tried against a clump of trees about a mile distant, it mowed them down like corn. It fires twenty shots per minute; two men can transport the whole apparatus; and five or six such weapons would in a few minutes destroy a regiment. This seems to be an amount of destructive efficiency which can hardly be exceeded. Meanwhile gunboats are in course of construction which can be taken to pieces and so conveyed from place to place; and the Messager de Toulouse boasts that in a few hours it will be possible to launch a numerous flotilla on the Rhine, with a powerful artillery, borne on invulnerable vessels, and capable of silencing, in case of need, the fire of Mayence, Coblenz, and Ehrenbreitstein.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Functional Disorders.—Who would be well must see that every organ of the body does its duty fully and fairly, which every one may certainly insure by occasionally resorting to these Pills, or by taking a course of them, according to the printed directions on each box. Stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are all reached by their purifying and corrective qualities, and any departure from their natural action is strenuously resisted, and order and regularity enforced. Health may always be preserved by attentive obedience to Holloway's directions, and by using his medicines as directed by them. All obstructions will by this means be removed, the blood will be purified, and its free and faultless circulation established.

The Great Health Restorer.

Many thousands of sick people have been restored to perfect health by Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills, and more certificates of cures and letters of grateful thanks have been received in their favor than were probably ever written for all other medicines combined. Sufferer! whatever your ailment is, give these two remedies a trial; no matter how often you may have been disappointed, they will benefit, and most likely cure you.

[BY AIR-LINE TELEGRAPH.]

Great Excitement at New Westminster!

Enthusiastic Public Meeting!

THE PILOT BOARD DENOUNCED!

[FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.]

At a late hour last evening we received by air-line telegraph from the Capital the following report of the proceedings at the meeting held on Wednesday evening in that "city" to consider the new pilot regulations. The meeting was held in Hyack Hall. The room—which will hold comfortably twenty-five persons—was "filled to overflowing." The Mayor, Hon Mr Oldbrook, occupied the chair, which was situated on a platform at the west end of the hall. An empty flour barrel, "head-up," was used as a table. Over the platform hung a string of onions and a mammoth potato, remains of the late Agricultural Exhibition. Across the centre of the hall was extended a dingy white cloth, on which was painted, in large letters, "No Smoking Allowed!" Such of the audience, therefore, as smoked at all, did so in silence. An English and an American flag were affectionately suspended side by side over the platform. It was the intention of the committee to have placed a bouquet of roses on the flour barrel for the use of the Mayor; but having learned that the only bouquet in town came up in the Enterprise from Victoria, the intention was abandoned as impolitic, and a piece of dried salmon on a plate substituted for the roses. Our reporter concealed himself in the empty flour-barrel.

The chairman called the meeting to order. He said that he was proud to witness among the sea of upturned faces, the familiar countenances of some of the oldest and best citizens of New Westminster. This was an indignation meeting—called to protest against the infamous scale of charges sought to be imposed upon vessels visiting the city. The charges, if imposed, would drive away the shipping and ruin the commerce of the place. In order that his hearers might understand how important the preservation of that commerce was to the colony, he would state that he had gone to the trouble of searching the books kept by his honorable friend, Mr Clamley, at the Custom-house, and he had ascertained that during the past eight months no less than two sailing vessels had crossed the sandheads and loaded cargoes at his (the chairman's) wharf. (Applause.) The names of the two vessels, he felt proud to say, were the schooner Industry, laden with stone for the new church, and the sloop Letitia, which brought a cargo of grain and hay. (Renewed applause.) There was also a splendid canoe trade growing up which should be fostered. [A voice—Provided the potatoes they bring don't come from the Island. Applause.] With these few remarks he would retire and call upon the honor of the evening—Honorable John Wobson (cheers) to move the first resolution.

The Hon John Wobson was introduced by Councilor Cate, and was received with a royal salute of twenty-one cheers. At the request of the distinguished gentleman, the "tiger" was dispensed with—he having been informed that the horrid creatures at Victoria had recently captured a full grown Bengal tiger and were in the habit of trotting it out at every popular demonstration. (Groans and hisses.) Having cleared his throat and laid a file of the British Columbian, from the first down to the present issue, upon the barrel-head, the honorable gentleman said that he had not expected to be called upon for a speech, and was consequently unprepared (oh!) He would, however, do the best he could, and look'd for the indulgence of his audience (cheers of encouragement.) The object of the meeting had been ably stated by the Chairman, who, although he differed with him considerably if not more so on most of the leading topics of the day, he was bound to say was sound on this question. ("Three cheers for the Mayor" were proposed and responded to by the meeting.) So far as the Mayor was concerned, he must say that he respected him—and who did not? (applause.) And although he had been "down on" him ever since he helped to start an opposition paper—a small, insignificant ephemeral whiff, for which, although not much more than half the size of the Columbian, the editors had the audacity to ask as much for—notwithstanding, he repeated, this base, unheard of outrage upon the part of the Chairman, he (the Hon. John Wobson) could lay his hand upon his heart of hearts and say that he bore him no ill will; but he was not so sure that the Mayor did not bear him a grudge. It was well known that the Mayor and Mr Hamstrom were aspirants for the honorable position which he (the Hon John Wobson) had aspired to and attained, and which he alone was capable of filling with honor and dignity. [The honorable speaker who was called to order by Mr Hamstrom, who occupied a seat upon the left chime of the flour-barrel. He trusted there would be no personalities indulged in. He had come here to speak about the Pilot regulations, not to hear a political harangue from the Hon John Wobson Cheers, hisses and cat-calls—"Go on, Wobson!" "Go on, Hamstrom!"]

The Mayor here pounded upon the head of the flour-barrel for order; such allusions as the Hon John Wobson had indulged in were superfluous, in-deed and un-gentlemanly.

Hon John Wobson—Mr Mayor—Several voices—"Chair! Chair!" and great confusion. The Chairman—Gentlemen, will you sustain the chair? A miner, clad in a red shirt and a pair of gumboots, size 14, Goodyear's patent, suggested, in a tone meant to be facetious, that as the chair had the honor at that moment of sustaining the Mayor, he did not see how it could be sustained until the Mayor had vacated it. A rush was made for the unhappy joker, and but for the exertion of a friend, he would have fared badly; as it was, he did not escape "Scott free"—being deprived of his shirt and boots before he was rescued and ejected.

Order having been restored, the Hon John Wobson resumed his remarks. He said he was about to say, when he was interrupted by Mr Hamstrom, (who he had reason to believe was one of the nest of vipers), [cries of "question," order, etc.]—one of the vipers who brooded at the Examiner office and stung him twice a week. [Hisses and confusion]—one of the "abandoned clique" (tremendous cheering) who had the barefaced assurance to ask two bits a week for the vile excretions of their ill-balanced brains, when the Columbian which had been endorsed by their "esteemed Governor" in the Blue Book, 1867—only two copies of which had come to Victoria, one of which might be read at the Columbian Office upon payment of a small fee—when the Columbian, he repeated, which had been endorsed by his Excellency "as a paper of no small influence," was sold for the same price. He saw whence this last act of villainy emanated. (Hear, hear.) Victoria whiskey had bought signatures to the Capital petition; how did his hearers know but it had bought the Pilot Board? (Great cheering.) Victoria had sapped the lifeblood of Westminster! If it was not for Victoria, New Westminster would have 50,000 people to-day. Victoria was an abomination—a curse—a cesspool—a sink of iniquity—a-a-sponge! But there was a "Birch" rod in pickle for Victoria in London! Here the audience, evidently greatly excited by the forensic eloquence of the speaker, burst out in one long, loud continuous roar of applause, which shook the Hyack Hall to its foundations, and, as the Hon John Wobson suggested, had the wind been blowing in the right direction it must have been heard in Victoria, and would have carried terror to the craven hearts of their foes there. But he would not digress further. He would proceed to the point. The question was, had the Pilot Board acted rightly? He answered unhesitatingly, no—a thousand times, no! As had been shown by the chairman, the commerce of the place was in danger. Their two regular sailing packets if this law went into effect, would be withdrawn, and the canoes, too, must be hauled up to rot. He had just come from Government House (cheers.) He had dined there the day (renewed cheering.) He knew the Governor's mind (prolonged cheering.) Justice—even-handed justice would be done to New Westminster (great applause.) The foul impurity cast upon the security of the harbor of New Westminster by the Board would be removed. He spoke by the "card." [The enthusiasm of the audience here became unbounded, and one of the citizens (Mr Clarkspapa) carried away by his feelings, invited the audience to walk down to his store and partake of as many apples as they could eat or carry home at the rate of $2.50 per box, which generous and disinterested offer, strange to say, was not accepted.]

Order having been somewhat restored, Mr Hamstrom wanted to know how long the Hon John Wobson intended to speak. The evening was wearing away and the candles were waxing dim. He had come prepared to speak; but now, owing to the length of the Hon John Wobson's remarks, the audience would be deprived of the pleasure of hearing him. The Chairman said that Hon John Wobson's remarks were too verbose. He had said a good deal, but there wasn't nothink in it. Hon John Wobson—I call the chairman to order. He is trying to "muzzle the press" (sensation.) Mr Scudder—You have thrown the meeting into hot water. Mr Simpleman (solemnly)—A free press is the palladium of our liberties. I understand that the Hon John Wobson is about to read us several of his celebrated leaders on the "science of hatching chickens by steam" but as the hour is late, I move that the articles be taken as read. Hon John Wobson—I was about—The Chairman—It is moved and seconded that the articles from the Columbian be taken as read. All those in favor of the motion say—"Aye." Carried, unanimously. Hon John Wobson—Mr Chairman: sir, I protest. You shall not gag the Fourth Estate with impunity. I'll appeal to the Governor—the country shall ring with it. At the mention of the name of the Colonist, a shout of execration was uttered by the audience, and Mr Wm. Piscator, the Mayor's factotum, drawing a copy of the condemned sheet from his pocket, lighted it at one of the candles and suffered it to consume amid the yells of the spectators. The Hon John Wobson essayed again to speak, but his popularity had waned. The unfortunate allusion to the Colonist had quite turned the audience against him; and, gathering up his pile of Columbian and clapping his hat on his head, he withdrew, first advising the assembled multitude to look out for the next issue of the Columbian—"price two bits per week, payable invariably in advance."

The withdrawal of the honorable gentleman gave Mr Hamstrom a chance to offer "the following resolution: "Resolved,—That this meeting, viewing with horror and dismay the attempt to libel this point in the eyes of the world, injure its commerce and destroy its prospects, hereby memorialize his Excellency the Governor to allow all vessels to enter the harbor of New Westminster free of pilotage dues, and that in order to compensate the pilots for the loss thus sustained, they be allowed to charge double rates on all vessels bound for Victoria, Burrard Inlet, Nanaimo or other ports."

Mr Wm. Piscator, Mr Simpleman and Mr Clarkspapa severely claimed the credit of seconding the resolution, and a warm dispute arose between the aspirants for the distinguished honor. The Chairman was finally asked to decide the knotty point. He declined, for the reason that he was not a lawyer, and appealed to Hon. Mr Grease, who he saw sitting an apple near the door. Mr Grease said this was a question of great importance, which he hardly felt competent to decide. He thought his chief—Hon. Mr Bigbuck—the proper person to decide so momentous a question; but inasmuch as he had been appealed to by the Chairman he felt he would be "wanting in his duty, as law adviser of the Crown" not to answer it frankly, freely and deliberately, and allow the contestants the right of appeal to a higher authority. Having been an attentive observer of what had passed, candor compelled him to say that Mr Wm. Piscator and Mr Simpleman were out of order, and that Mr Clarkspapa, by reason of his being the eldest of the three, was the proper person to second the resolution. But as the latter gentleman, in the heat of the moment, had indulged in some rather warm remarks, he had sacrificed all claim he might have previously had to the distinguished honor, and he (Mr Grease) would decide that the Chairman must appoint another seconder.

The Chairman, after examining the audience through his eye-glass, discovered that the only persons left in the room besides himself and the mover, were Messrs Grease, Piscator, Simpleman and Clarkspapa; whereupon Mr Grease suggested that the Chairman second the resolution himself, which was done, and the resolution carried nem. con., Messrs Simpleman, Piscator and Clarkspapa giving notice of an appeal.

The large and enthusiastic meeting then dissolved, with a vote of thanks to the Chairman, three cheers for the Governor and seven groans for the Pilot Board and Victoria.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.—A highly respectable business man, from Big Bend, yesterday surrendered himself to the Police Magistrate to undergo an examination upon a charge of having committed a heinous offence upon the person of a girl, aged seven years, the adopted child of Richard Stege, of French Creek, Big Bend. A partial examination was had yesterday, at the conclusion of which the magistrate said there was not the slightest case against the accused. He would, therefore, retain him on nominal bail to appear in a week to undergo further examination. The friends of the accused say that the charge is entirely false, and that two other persons were accused of a similar offence by the same girl, one of whom was tried last week at Yale and triumphantly acquitted.

SUPREME COURT.—In the Supreme Court yesterday, a rather important case was tried before Chief Justice Needham. Suit was brought by the Bank of British Columbia against E. Marvin and F. Tarbel, owners of the steamer Enterprise on the Upper Fraser, to recover the sum of $35, being the amount charged by defendants, at the rate of one-sixteenth of one per cent, on gold dust belonging to plaintiffs and conveyed by defendants on their steamer from Queenstown to Soda Creek. The suit was brought to test the validity of the charge. Mr McCreight, instructed by Drake & Jackson, for plaintiffs, Mr Wood, instructed by Mr Green, for defendants. The Chief Justice held that there was extra risks involved in the carriage of the dust, and that the percentage charged by defendants was valid and reasonable. Judgement accordingly.

MRS STOWE'S LECTURE.—The lecture on Spiritualism by Mrs Stowe, last evening, at the St George Hotel, was largely attended; the audience being composed principally of males. The lecturer commenced by reciting a poem, and then closing her eyes, proceeded, with remarkable rapidity and fluency, to explain the Phenomena of Spiritualism, which she did to the evident satisfaction of the audience, who frequently interrupted with applause. At the close of her remarks, Mrs Stowe announced that she would lecture again this evening, and that during her stay in Victoria she would practice as a clairvoyant physician.

BALL.—We understand that a number of gentlemen of this city are about to give a subscription ball, to which it is proposed to invite the Admiral and officers of the Squadron.

THE RACES.—The programme of the hurdle races appears this morning. They are set for the 4th proximo, at Beacon Hill.

ROBBERY FROM THE PERSON.—Peter Thomson, accused of robbing Vincent Gilcox of $100, was yesterday committed for trial.

NEW HATS AND CLOTHING!—Bruno & Co. having purchased a large invoice of clothing, consisting of 500 pairs French Casimere Pants and 300 Coats and Vests, at a great discount for cash, they offer the same, together with their well-selected stock of fine and heavy clothing, hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishing goods, at such low prices as will benefit one and all. Remember the place—BRUNN & CO.'s, corner Yates and Langley streets, Victoria, V.I. Greenbacks taken at San Francisco rates.

NEW WINTER FASHIONS.—Received by ast steamer at Victoria House, direct from Paris the Latest Novelties in Ladies' Trimmed Bonnets and Hats, Girls' and Infants' Hats and Bonnets, Gown Velvets, Bismarck and other new Silks, Flowers and Feathers, Kid Gloves, Black and Colored Velvet Ribbons, etc., etc. An efficient French Milliner has also just arrived from Paris to assist in the Millinery Department.

LONDON HOUSE.—J. H. Turner & Co have received fine Cloths, consisting of Beavers, West of England Broad and Doeskins, Tweeds, Wintons, Kerseys, etc., and a full assortment of Hosiery of the best make of Balbriggan, together with a large stock of new goods for Fall and Winter Trade.

MARTIN LUTHER once thought he saw the devil in his chamber, and threw an inkstand at his head. Had they had in those days AYER'S PILLS to exorcise all the devils that come from a disordered stomach, his laughable fright would not have become a matter of history.

O Men Gatherem up!

HEYWOOD'S PORK SAUSAGE. ELIXIR OF LIFE.—Mr Heywood, of the Yorkshire Market, has commenced for the season to make his celebrated Pork Sausage, manufactured from the very best of Island fed Pork—clean and pure as the snow that fell on Diana's lap—Oh, get out! Everybody buys them, because they are good. Now mind, be sure and make no mistake; it is in the fire-proof Brick Store, next door to the Old Original Cheery Stand.

Heywood's New Sugar-Cured Hams and Breakfast Bacon for sale shortly. If you wish the very best CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS, you must call on BRADLEY & RUTHERSON, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco.

FRED PAYNE has removed his Cheap Shaving Shop to the opposite side of Johns n street, just above the Miner's Saloon.
